NO WORK BEING DONE BY BUILDING TRADES

CARPENTERS AND JOINERS AND PAINTERS AND DECORATORS LOCKED OUT YESTERDAY BY CONTRACTORS ON ACCOUNT OF NEW WORKING DAY.

There was no work in progress yesterday, with few exceptions, in the building trades, and the members of the Carpenters and Joiners Union and the Painters and Decorators Union, spent the entire day at home, or else in the union hall, where they talked over the situation. The cause of idleness was the fact that the contractors could not agree yesterday morning. It was May 1st, the day on which the eight-hour day was to be inaugurated by the union men, and they held up for this number of hours. The contractors refused to accede to the demands, and told the men that their services were not needed.

The work of erection on every building in Pensacola was thus stopped.

ly upon the construction of buildings, and furthermore that the contractors had taken into consideration in figuring on this work the shorter hours, but now desired to reap the increased revenue and make the union men work at the same price.

A meeting of the unions was held last night, but the result of the same could not be learned.

The contractors will also hold a meeting this afternoon at 4 o'clock, and while nothing yet is known, it is said that the parties may come together at an early date and work upon the various buildings under construction again resumed.

How To Ward off Old Age.
The most successful way of warding off the approach of old age is to maintain vigorous digestion. This can be done by eating only food suited to your age and occupation, and when any disorder of the stomach appears take a dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets to correct it. If you have a weak stomach or are troubled with indigestion, you will find these Tablets to be just what you need. For sale by all druggists.

AT UNIVERSALIST CHURCH SUNDAY

ABLE AND INTERESTING ADDRESS DELIVERED BY THE PASTOR.

On last Sunday morning Rev. C. B. Lynn, preached a very able and interesting sermon in the Universalist Church, of which he is pastor. His text was from Phil. 3:15, and the subject "The Supreme Method of Christian Growth."

Among other things he said: "Instinctively, we raise the question of method, relative to gaining the goal, spoken of in the text. It is an intellectual process exclusively so considered. This is the realm in which men dogmatize. As to definitive statements in religious belief, men honestly differ. And yet dogmas have their place. But they are not finalities. Hence we answer, our question in the negative."

"It is by imitation that we can gain the goal. To imitate a perfect character is certainly hopeful. But the way here is not without difficulties. The Shapers and the Communists make a claim to be imitators of Jesus. One on the side of Cellbait; the other on possessing all things common with the brethren."

"Others say Imitate Jesus in His simplicity; in His severity against sin; and in His self-sacrificing spirit. True, such imitation leads the way. But it must mean more than a copy. "So we are led to declare that participation in the life of Jesus is the panacea for all our ills. Dogma and imitation may be regarded as means to such an end."

On May 7th, next Sunday, Rev. Mr. Lynch will preach by request on "Ralph Waldo Emerson, as a teacher of Religion," at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

While a billious attack is decidedly unpleasant it is quickly over when Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets are used. For sale by all druggists.

SUNDAY MARKETS.

They Were Held In England Even Before the Conquest.

According to the Domesday book, a Sunday market was held at St. Germans, Cornwall, even before the conquest, though it was soon rendered of little value owing to the establishing of another on an adjacent piece of ground by the Conqueror's half brother.

From the conquest right on to the time of Henry VII. and in a few cases longer these Sunday markets were common. We find records of them at Bradford, Worcester, Battle, Lancaster and parts of Durham, Lancashire and Lincolnshire.

Launceston in 1206 gave King John 5 marks for a license to change the day to Thursday. Battle did pretty much the same thing. Despite an act of parliament in 1449 abolishing them some disregarded the act and continued Sunday fairs until 1800.

In Wigton, Cumberland, the butchers on Sunday did a roaring trade close to the church doors. It was no uncommon thing for worshippers to bring their joints to church with them and hang them over the pew fronts. The priest, unable to stop the custom, posted to London and got the market day changed to Tuesday.—London Mail.

Will Handle Litigation For Municipal Ownership

CARICATURE SKETCH OF CLARENCE S. DARROW.
Clarence S. Darrow has been appointed by Mayor Dunne to take charge of all traction litigation of Chicago in the move for municipal ownership of street railways. Mr. Darrow is a noted lawyer and author. He is of the Tolstol school of mild anarchy. His book "Resist Not Evil" is along this line of thought.

BATTLESHIP SQUADRON WILL DEPART TO-DAY

EXPECTED THAT A NUMBER OF THE BIG SHIPS WILL GET AWAY THIS MORNING FOR VARIOUS PORTS BUT WILL RETURN NEXT YEAR.

The battleship squadron of the North Atlantic fleet is expected to sail today, and while the vessels will go out together under the command of Rear Admiral Evans, it is anticipated that they will have various ports as their final destination and will part from one another after being at sea for a few days.

There were no liberty parties ashore last evening or during the entire day. In fact the authorities had instructions to pick up every man with a bluejacket uniform on, and turn him into the ship from which he had deserted. There was a large number of men who had shipped on the vessels, or else overstayed their leave, and the authorities upon receiving instructions from the fleet commander proceeded to corral this class, finding them mostly in the lowest dives in the city.

The vessels which are expected to depart at high tide to-day are the Kearsarge and Massachusetts for Boston; the Alabama for Philadelphia; the Iowa, for Norfolk; the Maine, Missouri and Kentucky for Brooklyn.

These vessels are all going to these places for repairs, and it was stated would be back next year for the annual target practice. The work this year upon the target range has been better than was expected, and is very satisfactory to the navy department.

Other vessels, which are now in port will also leave shortly, but it is expected that a number of gunboats and cruisers will arrive in port during the course of the next week or ten days.

DEAL CLOSED FOR SOME VALUABLE PROPERTY.

A deal which involves the transfer of some valuable property has just been closed. Leslie E. Brooks and A. M. McMillan have come into possession of the property at the northwest corner of Garden and Tarragona streets, and it is expected that in the near future the frame building will be torn away and a modern business building erected.

The property was recently purchased from R. H. Turner, who has held it for a number of years. The consideration went up into the thousands of dollars, but the exact amount could not be learned.

A Delicate Art.

To transfer an old oil painting to a new canvas is a branch of art that calls for a union of mechanical skill and talent. There are not many men in the business. It is an entirely distinct work from renovating a cracked or mutilated painting. Transferring a painting from an old canvas to a new one requires years of experience to accomplish the simplest part of it. After the picture has been removed from its frame several layers of fine tissue paper are pasted firmly across the surface. When the paper is dry the back of the canvas is made thoroughly wet. Thread by thread it is picked away until nothing remains but the paint, which is fast to the tissue paper. A new canvas is then mounted and glued to the back of the picture. When the glue is dry the tissue paper is moistened and gently removed from the surface. A little cleaning and retouching by a skilled hand make the work complete.

No Bribery.

An amusing episode in politics is vouched for by a minister of religion as having occurred near Gillingham, England. A lady canvasser for one of the local candidates called at a house, found that the voter was out and inquired of the wife, "You think he will vote for my candidate, do you not?"

"Indeed he won't," replied the woman. "He has been promised a new pair of trousers if he votes for the other man."

The lady canvasser scented a petition for bribery, produced a sovereign and said, "I will give you this if you will tell me who made your husband that promise."

"Certainly I will," said the voter's wife as she pocketed the money. "I promised him them myself."

This is the Feed for Genuine Profit

Every ounce of it is money to the feeder—solid dollars in health and work. No other feed has so much in its favor. It is palatable, digestible and wholesome. Good for foals and brood mares, as well as for roadsters and heavy haulers. A few sacks will not cost much, and as they would lead to a very considerable saving in feed bills, a trial is fully warranted. Our guarantee is back of it.

What Makes the Mare Go?

An interesting booklet telling of things not usually known, and published for the benefit of feeders generally. It may be had for the asking.
